

"I cannot believe how quickly these three years have passed by; time certainly does fly when you are having fun!"

With my final set of accountancy exams fast approaching, now is a perfect time to reflect on my time in the Graduate program at Isosceles.

Firstly, I cannot believe how quickly these three years have passed by; time certainly does fly when you are having fun! The regular company activities and social events help create a warm and friendly environment across the team, which is reflected within the office too.

I am currently working on two client accounts, which each bring their own challenges. One is a multinational organisation which operates in eight different countries. The work on this client involves lots of technical accounting and provides an opportunity to liaise with senior management. My other client is a UK-based start-up which is rapidly growing and has doubled in size each year. This client has the potential to develop into a truly successful and highly profitable organisation, and it is an exciting opportunity to be a part of their growth.

The focus on the Graduate Team and internal training show that Isosceles is truly committed to helping you reach your full potential. As a third-year in the Graduate Team, I work alongside the newer members of the team, and it is just as rewarding to share in their success and guide their development.

The final exam in the ICAEW qualification is the Case Study, which requires you to analyse and critically appraise a company. It is going to be key to use the knowledge and techniques that I have encountered during my studies, and I am very proud of what I have learnt and achieved to date. All going well, by the end of the year, I will have completed the examinations and can submit my application to become a Chartered Accountant. The next few months are going to be very exciting!
