I've been working for Isosceles Finance as a Trainee Graduate Accountant for just over 3 months now after graduating from the University of Reading with a BA in Accounting and Management. From studying accounting at university, I always knew it was something I wanted to go into, but I hadn't expected that I would enjoy the job as much as I am thanks to the fantastic team at Isosceles.

In my first couple weeks of the induction, I was encouraged to familiarise myself with the exam process. There are fellow graduates at Isosceles that have been in the exact same position from which I could get advice from about completing my first exam. Studying for the exams requires a lot of dedication as you are working a full-time job, but the rewards of completing the qualification are worth the time and commitment.

One of my favorite things about being a part of Isosceles is the social events that the Company run. I was invited to join the Company's summer sports day despite the event occurring before I had officially started. This was a great way for me to meet most of the team and get an insight into the social side of the company (which was helped by myself being part of the winning team).

Since I started, I have been working on multiple clients, each of which require using a different software which can get confusing at first but once I settled in it was a great way to learn and develop my skills. There is an emphasis on growth where you are encouraged to push yourself and expand your knowledge which is great as there is always help there when you need it, and I am excited to see what's next in my future at Isosceles.
